ACCIDENTAL

Death of Austin Joyce Probably Not Suicide.

Old Gentleman's Feeble Condition Prevented Him From Saving Himself—Coroner's Verdict.

The coroner after a careful investigation and close examination of the witnesses in the inquest held yesterday and today in the matter of the death of Austin Joyce, found it difficult to decide whether or not the deceased committed suicide or was drowned accidentally.

Contrary to some reports that were spread about town, no one saw the deceased jump, nor in the attitude of jumping.

The two colored men, Somers and Mabry, who were at work with a team nearby testified to seeing the deceased on the bridge, and saw him without his hat and coat on, walking across and near the edge of the bridge. Just a few minutes later as they approached the place they saw Mr. Joyce's feet sticking out of the water and they called for help.

Walter D. Hedges, of the green house, heard the cry of Mabry and Somers for help and went at once to the race and after a struggle succeeded in getting the body out and did all in his power to resuscitate the old gentleman.

Dr. C. H. Parsons was called as a witness and testify that on last Saturday, April 30th, he was called to the home of the deceased by relatives and found Mr. Joyce almost dead as the result of a sinking spell and it was with great difficulty that he was revived, and the doctor further stated that his condition was very poorly and that he did not have much vitality.

This was about all the evidence of any great importance, and left two theories—one that the deceased deliberately took off his hat and coat and being temporarily out of reason, as a result of his illness, jumped into the race with the intention of ending his life. The other theory and the one upon which the coroner made his finding was that the deceased was warm from over exertion and the day being extremely pleasant took off his coat and hat and walked across the bridge to the side where he could get closer to the water to get a drink or perhaps to dampen his handkerchief to place inside his hat and accidentally fell head first into the water and on account of his feeble condition was unable to save himself.

The majority of the people are inclined to take this view of the case and the coroner also decided the case on that theory.

His verdict, in part, reads as follows:

State of Indiana, Rush county, ss.: I, Frank H. Green, coroner of said county, having examined the body of Austin Joyce and heard the testimony of the witnesses which is hereto attached, do hereby find that the said deceased came to his death on the 5th day of May, 1904, and that death was due to accidental drowning, said accident being superinduced by deceased condition, age and general debility.

Another Kind of Graft.

F. A. Cotton, superintendent of public instruction, in company with W. A. Millis, of Crawfordsville, will leave Sunday for St. Louis to attend to the matter of arranging and placing the Indiana educational exhibit in place in the Indiana building. It is said that much difficulty is being experienced by exhibitors in getting their cars to the grounds. It is charged that the railroad employees are taking advantage of the great opportunity the situation offers for graft, and that they are charging the exhibitors exorbitant prices for moving cars.

There are 85,000 professed converts to Christianity in Korea. Schools are maintained by the native churches and the hospitals established by the missionaries care for 60,000 persons each year.

TO INCREASE CAPACITY

Board of Directors of Telephone Company Decide to Enlarge Switchboard.

The Board of Directors of the Rushville Co-Operative Telephone Company held a meeting last night at the office of Secretary Dale in the exchange building, and decided to enlarge the present plant enough to accommodate those who are now needing telephones. The board has decided to add two new sections to the switch board now in use, increasing its capacity and making the board large enough to accommodate one hundred and fifty additional phones. The improvement will cover those people living in the north and west part of town who are in need of phones.

The board felt the necessity of enlarging the present plant in order to accommodate those who cannot wait for the new plant. The board felt that they could stand the expense and that the money would not be wasted.

The present plant in the near future will give way to a larger and better all around plant. The necessary cables and materials for the enlargement of the plant have been ordered and the installation will be made by the local linemen.

CONTRACTS LET

Commissioners Receive Bids for Four New Bridges.

Contracts were let this afternoon for the building of four bridges—one at Beaver Meadow ford, in Posey township; one at Dave Conner's in Noble township; one at Plum Creek, two miles, north of Gings, and one across Little Blue river, near Henderson. Fourteen bids were submitted, some were for only part of the work, however.

MAY STAND TEST

Last Appointment Act Better Than the Old One.

The decision of the Supreme court as to the constitutionality of the legislative apportionment act of 1903 is expected next week. There is a larger element of doubt as to the court's probable finding than formerly. There is a principle of law that "he who asks equity must do equity." On this particular case those who are seeking to overthrow the law on equitable grounds would compel the State to revert the apportionment act of 1897 which, owing to the shifting of population since it was enacted, is said to contain greater inequalities than the act of 1903. It is intimated that the court may take this view of the case and sustain the present law.

Postmaster at Arlington.

William M. Gowdy has been appointed postmaster at Arlington to succeed William H. Dameron. Mr. Gowdy is very popular, well qualified and has a large acquaintance over the county.

Union Township.

The date of the Union township Republican convention has been set for May 21st, and will be held at Stringtown. There will probably be several candidates for trustee and assessor.

Short of Duty.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., May 7.—Special treasury agents who have been investigating entries of hay and other goods paying a specific duty brought in at points along the northern border have found 2,000 cars of hay short of duty amounting to $8,000. The frauds were perpetrated by entering the hay at less than its actual weight. Hay, dutiable at $4 per ton was entered as straw, paying $1.50 duty. Straw was put in the car doors to deceive the officers. Importations of shingles and lath are now under investigation.

New Commandant Named.

Washington, May 7.—Announcement is made at the navy department of the selection of Lieutenant Commander C. C. Rodgers to be commandant of the naval station at Guantnamo, Cuba.

ALLURMENTS

Are Being Offered Innocent Girls at St. Louis

Splendid Movement on Foot to Suppress Nefarious Business by Enforcing the Law.

May God move every Christian heart in Rush county to assist in sounding the alarm against the victimizing of innocent girls at St. Louis during the World's Fair.

It has come to the knowledge of the W. C. T. U. that keepers of infamous houses in St. Louis have a capital of $300,000 to secure new victims for their nefarious business. A correspondent of the Christian Herald says: "There are miles and miles of evil dens that cover their dark deeds with a sign 'Restaurant,' or 'Girls Wanted to Work.'" Many an innocent girl has entered these apparently respectable places, only to be drugged and dragged to a living death. A school teacher was rescued recently by an uncle who found her in enforced slavery.

Acting under orders of Chief Police Kiely, the police at St. Louis recently closed all disorderly houses in an area more than fifteen blocks in extent. Orders to move were also given and Chief Kiely says that district will be thoroughly cleaned in a few days.

The order was due to the approach of the World's Fair and to the fact that the new boulevard leading to the exposition grounds extends through those quarters.

While this timely action is being taken by the police, there are many crimes that will escape their notice and it is the duty of all good citizens of this nation to assist in blocking any crimes of this nature.

If any of your young women have been induced by a stranger to visit or seek employment in St. Louis, during the Exposition, sound the note of alarm. There is danger. Let every young woman, unattended by a friend, see to it: First, that she has money enough with her for an emergency and safe return home. Second, know from a reliable source her destination there is safe before she leaves home. Third, depend upon herself and officials on the railroad for information concerning trains. Any added intelligence necessary, reserve for "Travelers' Aid."

The "Travelers' Aid" is an organization of Christian women who will have a woman at the stations in St. Louis with a blue badge with "Travelers' Aid" printed thereon who will willingly give any information about the city.

It is the duty of every newspaper and every citizen to sound the alarm.

No young, inexperienced girl ought to go to St. Louis unaccompanied by a proven friend, unless true and tried friends are to meet her.

OVERLOOKED THE EDITOR

Bloomer Girls not in Favor With the News Man.

(Greensburg News.)

The very large posters announcing a game of base ball between the St. Louis Star Club of females, and the home team, drew a crowd of about 400 to the ball park yesterday afternoon. There was an error made by the visiting club for every spectator present.

The visiting club members were: Maud, Mamie, Blondy, Fatty, Lillie, Gertrude, John, Will and Henry, a nice lot of names, but not a prepossessing lot of females. The names of the home nine are suppressed out of respect for their "reps" as ball players.

Miss Lillie "stood in" the pitcher's box for three innings, with Miss John behind the bat; Miss Henry pitched the latter part of the game, showing more speed, but not as much base ball ability as Miss Lillie. The female players were not attractive enough to ever win preference of the umpire.

At the end of the seventh or eighth inning, the spectators became disgusted and many left, the News reporter being one of the number, the score then standing 16 to 1 with no more show of the female club winning than had the apostle of 16 to 1 four years ago. Now for a game with a good club, for the attendance yesterday shows that our people are ripe for base ball.

GAME TOMORROW

The Local Team Will Meet the Marines of Indianapolis.

The Rushville team will meet the strong Marines at the South Main street park tomorrow, and a good game is expected.

Pruitt and Morgan will probably be in the points for the home team as it is understood that Connersville has given up the idea of retaining Pruitt and has signed Lindsey to pitch for them.

The line-up for tomorrow will be as follows:

Pearsey	1b.	Weber
Alexander	2b.	Lourbeer
Hendrix	3b.	Dawson
Carter	s.s.	Tenny
Yazel	r.f.	Dwyer

Unknown Man Killed.

An unknown man, about thirty years old, light complexion, black mustache and weighing about 160 pounds, was killed by a Big Four freight train yesterday morning on the Chicago division, near where the railroad crosses the line of Ripley and Franklin counties.

JAPANESE HIT BOLDLY

Port Arthur has Been Cut off and Left to its Own Resources

Second Army of the Japanese Lands on the Liao Tung Peninsula and Takes Possession.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—A dispatch received last night says that Port Arthur is cut off from all communication by land, the Japanese having disembarked in its rear, occupied the railroad and cut the telegraph. Vice Admiral Skrydloff, who is en route to Port Arthur to take command of the naval force in the far East, will be unable to reach his destination.

Mukden, May 7.—Viceroy Alexieff has arrived here.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—Japanese troops swarming across the narrow neck of the Liao Tung peninsula, the railroad and telegraph communications cut and the Russian Gibraltar isolated and left to its own resources—all this the Russians seem to accept with great stoicism.

These events have been anticipated since the outbreak of the war, and the authorities, in a sense, appear to be relieved now that the blow has fallen. They assert that the fortress is impregnable and amply provisioned to stand a siege for a year, and that it can hold out until the time comes to relieve it.

According to official information the landing of troops from sixty transports began simultaneously at Pitsewo and Cape Terminal on the morning of May 5. It is also reported that troops are being landed at Kinchow, but this is not credited, as the Russians are known to have fortifications there and it is not believed that the Japanese had the daring to land immediately under an entrenched position from which the Russians could inflict severe injury on them.

Complete details of the landing are lacking owing to the interruption of communication. No resistance was made, the few Cossacks who observed the movement retiring when the warships shelled the shore preparatory to disembarkation. Ten thousand men were put ashore Thursday and the disembarkation was proceeding yesterday at the time that communication ceased. It is believed that there are over 20,000 now on land preparing for a forward movement.

Two Japanese regiments were hurried westward yesterday morning to cut the railroad and telegraph communication. One of these fired on a train conveying the wounded from Port Arthur.

It was because he was convinced that Port Arthur was about to be cut off that Viceroy Alexieff, accompanied by his staff and Grand Duke Boris left hastily. On Thursday several trains loaded with sick and wounded and other ineffectives were dispatched northward.

It is reported here that the Japanese ships bombarded Port Arthur early on the morning of May 6, and succeeded at last in closing the entrance, but no official confirmation of the latter statement can be obtained. The exact hour at which communication with the Russian stronghold ceased has not been established.

The strength of the garrison at Port Arthur is not revealed by the authorities, who will only say that it is adequate for defensive purposes. It is not believed that the force there exceeds 10,000 soldiers. A large force is not considered necessary, as was shown from the recent withdrawal of some of the troops who were simply a drain on the resources of the garrison.

The fleet must now take a secondary position and the sailors will be used to man the shore guns if necessary.

Vice Admiral Skrydloff and Vice Admiral Bezobrazoff cannot now reach Port Arthur and will probably go to Vladivostok to join the cruiser squadron there. Rear Admiral Wittsoeff, who was left in charge of the fleet by Viceroy Alexieff, will direct operations at Port Arthur. Wittsoeff is a good officer, and it is believed he will render excellent service.

The receipt of news at any time of a decisive battle near Feng Wang Cheng will not cause surprise here, and already rumors are circulating in the city, which, however, lack verification and are believed to be untrue, that a battle has been fought; that the Japanese have been defeated with heavy loss, and that General Kuroptakin was wounded. Another rumor is in circulation that Port Arthur has been captured, but this also is scouted in responsible quarters.

JAPANESE STRATEGY

Three Great Blows Delivered in Rapid Succession.

London, May 7.—The British press is loud in its expressions of admiration for the brilliant Japanese strategy in dealing in rapid succession three great blows—the battle of the Yalu, the sealing of Port Arthur, and the landing at Pitsewo, and the development of these opening moves is awaited with the greatest interest. It is considered to be not unlikely that the primary object will be an assault upon Port Arthur and an endeavor to capture the Russian fleet there, or that the Japanese will be content to place a small force as a mask at Port Arthur and will send their main force from Pitsewo to co-operate with General Kuroptakin's army, in which case, if the Russian assertion that large reinforcements have been sent to Feng Wang Cheng is true, a great land battle is imminent there or at Liao Yang. It is believed that it is Japan's second army that landed at Pitsewo and that the destination of the third army is still to be revealed.

Practically no further news of any kind has reached London beyond belated dispatches from correspondents with the Japanese army on the Yalu, detailing events preceding the recent battle. A Tokio correspondent asserts that simultaneously with the attack on Port Arthur the Japanese laid cables between one of the islands and the main land as a protection to their landing place.

Nearly every prominent Democrat in Indiana has had a "boom" for Governor of Indiana.

And it is now reported that Dan Sims, of Lafayette, was offered $25,000 and the Governorship if he would deliver the State of Indiana to Hearst. Of course, Sims refused. His greatest reason was probably not the mere fact that he didn't need the $25,000, or that he didn't want to be Governor, but he knew that Tom Taggart had something to say about delivering the State in the Democratic convention and he knew that his fellow-townsman, Frank Hanly, had something to say about the Governorship.

The Washington Star is the latest victim of the Indiana political-news faker, the following dispatch having appeared in its columns under an Indianapolis date line:

"It can be positively stated that Senator Fairbanks not only will not consent to any more vice presidential talk, but that he will not be considered as a candidate by Indiana Republicans. This decision on the part of the Senator was made known to Indiana Republicans just prior to the recent State convention. It was at Fairbanks' own request that no endorsement of him for vice presidency be placed in the platform. He is trying to dodge the proposition. With this decision on the part of the Senator, the suggestion to have Charles J. Murphy selected national chairman falls through. Fairbanks has said that he would accept the vice presidency provided he could name the national chairman. Last week Fairbanks after consulting with Indiana leaders decided to stand aloof from the vice presidency. For this reason Murphy's name is out of the chairmanship running; for this reason, also, there was a conference at the White House Sunday to decide on another name for chairman.

"Meanwhile Indiana Republicans are booming Speaker Cannon for second place; of course, not with the speaker's consent. It is figured here that with Cannon out of the speakership, Chairman Hemenway, of the committee on appropriations, would stand a good chance for elevation to the speakership."

The dispatch is a gem, in its way, being a peculiarly striking example of shiftless and slovenly newspaper writing. In addition to the fact that it is made out of whole cloth, it calls ex-Governor Franklin Murphy "Charles J." The statement that Indiana Republicans are booming Mr. Cannon is absurd. Indiana Republicans are convinced that Senator Fairbanks will be the vice presidential nominee, not because he wants the nomination but because the party wants him. The Senator, as everybody knows, is now and never has been a candidate, but the sentiment for his nomination is so apparent and strong that it is altogether improbable that he could make such statements or assume such an attitude as attributed to him in the Star's dispatch, and it is well known to Republicans from all over the State, present at the cent convention, that he made no such request. Senator Fairbanks' position in the matter has been one of characteristic dignity. His popularity and strength with the people have, if possible, been enhanced by the manner in which he has met the trying situation, and it is safe to say that his position would not be changed without the knowledge of his friends and advisers in Indiana.

Some weeks ago the Journal asserted its belief that the Senator would have no choice in the matter of accepting the nomination—that the will of the party would be made so plainly manifest that the nomination would be without opportunity of choice on his part. And the Journal, so far, sees no reason to withdraw its declaration.—Indianapolis Journal.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Republican State Central Committee
Names its Cabinet.

Indianapolis, May 7.—The advisory committee of the Republican state committee has been completed. It follows: First district, David Kronenberger, Evansville; Second district, Oscar Shryer, Bloomfield; Third district, U. T. DePauw, New Albany; Fourth district, Lincoln Cravens, Madison; Fifth, T. J. Hudgings, Martinsville; Sixth, Owen L. Carr, Rushville; Seventh, Gaylord Hawkins, Indianapolis; Eighth, Joseph Burgman, Portland; Ninth, John Wingate, Wingate; Tenth, Murray Turner, Hammond; Eleventh, A. C. Bearss, Peru; Twelfth, O. W. Christie, Ligonier; Thirteenth, J. O. State, Elkhart. The advisory committee is named by the members of the state committee. It does not take an active part, however, in the management of the campaign.

The managers of the Hearst and Parker movements are now completing arrangements for the state convention here next Thursday. It is difficult to learn of their plans, as each side fears that publicity would be dangerous at this time. It was rumored today that each fears the other will attempt to pack the convention so as to create the impression that the sentiment is all with their man. Some of those who have charge of the Parker campaign are afraid that the Hearst followers will crowd to Indianapolis to shout for him. On the other hand, Hearst's managers know that the state committee, which is very friendly to Parker, will have the distribution of the tickets and that it will see that none but those truly loyal to Parker are seated where the shouting will do the most good. The convention promises to be very interesting.

It was stated here today that Mayor Fogarty of South Bend may not after all talk about him, become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. Last winter a boom was launched for him and he took to it like a duck does to water. "If I am re-elected mayor I shall be a candidate for governor," he declared. But now it is said that he will not be and that Edgar A. Perkins, president of the State Federation of Labor will be. Fogarty intended to make good because of his strength among organized laborers, as he is a union bricklayer. Perkins has been at the head of the State Federation for several years, and is much better known. He has made no announcement of his candidacy, but it is understood that he is willing to run. Fogarty has not said he would not be a candidate, but there was a rumor to that effect in the air today.

Chairman Goodrich is still backward about the appointment of the executive committee to the state committee. Adam Beck of Huntington, formerly Eleventh district chairman, is to be one of the members and H. C. Starr of Richmond will be appointed. It is said that William Geake of Fort Wayne will be another member, and there has been some talk here of Baron Rothschild, deputy attorney general, but it is not known whether or not he is to have a place. Warren Bigler of Wabash, Walter Schmidt of Evansville and Sidney Cantwell of Hartford City are now members, but there has been no intimation that they are to be reappointed.

UNCLE SAM'S WONDERS

All Executive Departments Seen
Treasures to the World's Fair.

Display Installed in the Largest Governmental Exposition Building Ever Constructed — Precious Documents — Relics of Famous Statesmen and Soldiers. Working Postal Exhibit.

The United States Government building at the World's Fair occupies an elevated site just south of the main picture of the Exposition. The great central dome of the Government building is visible from the very center of the Fair, looking across the picturesque sunken garden that lies between the Palaces of Mines and Metallurgy and Liberal Arts.

The hill slope in front of the Government building is terraced with broad stairways almost completely covering the slope. The building is 800 feet long by 250 feet wide and is the largest structure ever provided at an exposition by the federal government. It is distinguished from all the other large buildings at the Exposition by the steel truss construction, the entire roof being supported by steel arches, forming a splendid domed ceiling.

In this building are installed the exhibits of all the executive departments of the government. The building is a vast storehouse of an endless variety of treasures dear to the heart of every true American. Precious documents are to be seen here, and the autographs of our great men of the past are on display. Relics of famous statesmen and soldiers, carefully preserved through generations, are exhibited. Each governmental department has installed an exhibit showing its official character and mode of operation.

Entering the Government building from the eastern end, the visitor sees at his left a railroad postoffice car. This is not a mere coach standing idle, but is one of the most improved mail cars, in which men attached to the United States railway mail service are actively engaged in "throwing" the mails. Here you will see the postal clerks at work, just as they work while speeding along a railroad track.

A curious collection of old time relics from the postoffice museum at Washington illustrates as no verbal description can do the crude beginnings of the postal system. One of these relics is an old fashioned stagecoach that once carried United States mails through a portion of the Louisiana purchase territory. President Roosevelt, who once inspected it, examined with a rough rider's interest the bullet holes which stage robbers and mountain brigands shot through its stiff leather curtains. Generals Sherman and Sheridan and President Garfield rode in this old coach during the strenuous days of frontier life. Among the collection of documents showing the primitive postal methods in vogue in the early days is to be seen the old book of accounts kept by the first postmaster general, Benjamin Franklin, all written by hand. There is a rare collection of stamps, including ancient Filipino, Porto Rican and Cuban stamps. The postoffice department's exhibit occupies 12,469 square feet.

Across the aisle, at the right, is the exhibit of the new Department of Commerce and Labor, occupying 1,966 square feet. This exhibit shows what the new executive department stands for and what it is accomplishing. Mr. Carroll D. Wright, United States Commissioner of Labor, had charge of the preparation of the exhibit. Charts arranged by him, showing the rapid growth of the nation in agriculture, arts, manufacture, population, etc., are of special interest to sociologists and all students of the labor problem. The Census Bureau exhibit is made in this section. It shows the tabulating machines used in compiling the census reports. The Lighthouse Board, also operating under this department, shows the great revolving lenses in lighthouses, with other interesting appliances.

The space in the projecting northwest corner of the building is devoted to the Library of Congress. The edifice which houses this library at Washington is held by many architects to be the most beautiful building in the world. Its interior decorations, by Elmer Ellsworth Garnsey, furnish one of the chief delights of a visit to the national capital. A large model of this splendid building is a feature of the exhibit. The decorative features of the interior are reproduced in their original colors.

The next exhibit on the right hand side of the central aisle is that of the Interior Department, occupying 11,792 square feet. In this large space the visitor finds so many things of compelling interest that he is loath to leave. The Patent Office exhibit belongs to this section. There are models of many machines that have borne an important part in the development of the nation's industries. The earliest form of every device of human invention, so far as possible, is shown here. For instance, you may see the actual sewing machine that was the first contrivance of its kind ever constructed; it was patented in 1846 by Elias Howe. The first typewriter, patented by C. Thurber in 1842; the model of the first cast iron plow, patented by Charles Newbold in 1797; the first screw propeller, invented by Robert Hook in 1680; and many other "first" things to be seen. The model of Abraham Lincoln's celebrated device for lifting steamboats off shoals is shown here. The first harvesting machine, made in the year 150 B. C., is one of the most ancient exhibits at the Exposition. There is also a model of the first steam engine, made in Egypt in the same year.

Every foot of the 200,000 feet of floor space in Uncle Sam's World's Fair building is occupied by exhibits of surpassing interest, and every phase of the people's welfare is shown.

THE WENTZ MYSTERY

Clue Has Been Found to Long Missing Young Millionaire.

Bristol, Tenn., May 7.—There is a strong suspicion that Silas Ison and Thomas Wright, the mountaineers who were captured at Cumberland Gap, Tenn., recently after having been shot and wounded by officers, had a hand in the mysterious disappearance of Edward L. Wentz, the young millionaire who has been missing since last October. Three garments discovered in a house at Glamorgan which Ison and Wright formerly occupied are believed to have been the property of Wentz. One of these, a pair of riding trousers, has on it what appears to be bloodstains. The woman of the family now occupying the house declares the troussers are identically the same in appearance as those worn by Wentz.

PROMOTION ASSURED

Colonel Mills' Appointment Will Again Be Sent to Senate.

Washington, May 7.—The president has determined to appoint Colonel Albert L. Mills brigadier general. Col. Mills was nominated a brigadier general during the last session of congress, but the senate did not act on his nomination. He will remain superintendent of the military academy until some action on his nomination is taken next winter.

Serious Clash Threatened.

Washington, May 7.—In official circles here apprehension is felt as to the outcome of the sharp clash between Brazil and Peru growing out of the dispute over the territories lying in the valleys of the Alto Jurus and Alto Purus, known as the Acre territory.

Cox Drew Out.

New Albany, Ind., May 7.—Congressman Zenor was renominated by acclamation by the Third district Democratic convention, the Hon. William E. Cox of Dubois county withdrawing from the contest and seconding the nomination.

Real enjoyment is had when reading that clever magazine, The Smart Set.

STATE NEWS

Laporte, Ind., May 7.—Because of Marshal Bonzer's determination to enforce the Nicholson law, persuasion is being brought to bear on Mayor Darrow to order a census, with a view of showing that Laporte has a population of 10,000, which would entitle it to a metropolitan police system under the 1897 law. By means of a metropolitan system Bonzer would be legislated out of office. Meanwhile the marshal is continuing his enforcement of the law, and additional affidavits have been filed against saloon men who sold intoxicants on election day. The names of prominent politicians, both Republican and Democratic, are among the witnesses to these alleged violations.

SATISFACTION IS EXPRESSED

Block Coal District Rejoicing Over Settlement of Differences.

Brazil, Ind., May 7.—Great satisfaction is expressed in the block coal field because the threatened strike has been averted. The miners fought stubbornly since April 1, at which time the old scale expired, for two points—extra pay for low coal in machine mines, and for an eight-hour day for the engineers, or extra pay for extra hours that branch of the mine workers was compelled to be on duty. The operators positively refused to grant either demand, citing the clause in the national agreement recently signed, that there should be no changes in the local agreements that would increase the cost of the production of coal. The miners insisted that these demands did not come under this agreement. Many joint conferences were held without avail, and it looked as if a strike were certain. National Vice President Lewis came here and counseled against strike. The miners yielded every point, the operators making but one concession, an extra 10 cents an hour on the pay of the firemen.

He Was Too "Pearl."

Lebanon, Ind., May 7.—Information has been filed in the circuit court against saloon keepers in various parts of the county for alleged violations of the liquor law. Among these is John Smith of Thorntown, who is facing six separate charges, the bond in each case being $500. Smith sought to have this bond reduced to $100, failing in which he addressed Judge Arman in open court, remarking: "I did not expect to get justice from you, anyway." The court promptly fined him $25 and costs for contempt, and committed him to jail for five days. The temperance people of this county are waging war against the licensed saloon in several towns, and have defeated William Vice of Advance; Wm. F. Hogan of Zionsville, and James R. Black of Thorntown.

Shipped the Tramps Out.

Anderson, Ind., May 7.—Burglars secured about $100 in a purse, a gold watch, diamonds and other jewelry at the home of Dr. F. L. Tracy, while the family was asleep. It is supposed that the theft was committed by the followers of a circus here. About forty men arrested as suspects were held in jail when officers put all of the men in a Big Four box-car and attached it to a train headed for Indianapolis. "The railways brought these men to town and they can take them away," said the officers.

Schoolboys on Trial.

Corydon, Ind., May 7.—Ollie Smith and Charles Guetz, aged fourteen years respectively, are on trial in the circuit court for manslaughter, charged with killing Adolph Schmidt, a little orphan boy. While playing during school recess in Spencer township the defendants lassoed the Schmidt boy around the neck and dragged him some distance; the boy dying of his injuries. The defendants claim they were playing "Injun" and had no intention of injuring their victim.

May Enter Plea of Guilty.

Wabash, Ind., May 7.—R. B. Coapstick, the defaulting cashier of the Big Four freight office, will be tried next week, although it is intimated that the defendant will enter a plea of guilty, hopeful of a lighter sentence. A surety company is responsible for $2,000 of the $3,000 defalcation, and it is understood that the railway company will look to its agent to make good the deficit.

Brazil, Ind., May 7.—Dorothy, the five-year-old daughter of John Culbertson of this city, is in a serious condition as a result of a snake bite. The child saw the reptile in the yard and attempted to play with it, when it sank its fangs into the child's arm. The snake was killed. The child's arm is badly swollen, but the physician thinks her life will be saved.

Burglar Shot Policeman.

Indianapolis, May 6.—Patrolman Hanford Burk is at the city hospital suffering from four bullet wounds inflicted by one of two men who, it is thought, were trying to break into the grocery store of James H. Madden, 1438 E. Washington street. While Burk's wounds are serious, it is not believed that they are fatal. The burglar escaped.

Anxious Inquiry.

St. Petersburg, May 6.—Japan is anxiously inquiring through the United States government as to the fate of the Japanese captured by Vice Admiral Makarov's ships during their raid near the Miao Tao Islands, the men being held as prisoners as the steamer, which was sunk by the Russians, had on board guns, mines and a wireless telegraph outfit.

THE INSIDE INN AT ST. LOUIS

An Ideal Place for Visitors Right Inside the Grounds. No Tiresome Journeys to or From the City—No Crowding—No Discomfort—Time and Money Saved.

No matter who you are or what you are; no matter if your purse is slender or otherwise, if you wish to see the World's Fair at St. Louis and enjoy every moment of your time, the best place to stay—indeed the only place to stay—is the Inside Inn.

The building of this splendid hostelry has marked a new departure in world's fair accommodation, it being the first time that the administration of any exposition has taken the question of the lodging and creature comforts of its visitors under its personal supervision. This the World's Fair Management has done. The Inside Inn has been built with the same lavish hand that has marked all other construction at St. Louis. It is three stories high, 400 feet wide, 800 feet long, contains 2257 bedrooms and can seat 2500 people in its dining-room at one sitting.

Every modern convenience obtainable has been installed and the comforts thus afforded enable visitors to enjoy the sights of the Exposition whenever they please and then go to their rooms for a rest without a long, tiresome journey to and from their lodgings. A great saving in time and money is consequently effected, as sight seeing can be begun directly after breakfast and continue late into the night, without any exasperating run for the "last car." No admission fee other than the first is required from those guests who remain within the precincts of the Fair at The Inside Inn.

The Inside Inn is run on both the European and American plans and the rates are exceedingly moderate, ranging from $1.50 to $5.50 European, and from $8.00 to $7.00 American, including daily admission in both cases. The enormous capacity of The Inside Inn assures first-class accommodations for all—no matter when or in what numbers they come—but those who prefer to secure their rooms in advance may make reservation now for any period up to December 1st. A post card addressed to The Inside Inn, Administration Bldg., World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis, will bring you an interesting booklet, giving full details and plans.

Memorial day has played a larger share than many of us realized in our national life. In no country on the globe is a day so entirely devoted to the memory of its heroes, so generally observed throughout the length and breadth of the land. The day itself is well chosen when spring offers its choicest blossoms in profusion and nature presents its loveliest aspect. It is a day culled from the period when life is at its best to do honor to those "Who being dead, yet live." What a lesson it is to the child, so delighted to witness the exercises of the little ones in school in honor of the day, and to realize that it is thus good citizens are molded, to hear their fresh young voices sing the national anthems and lisp the story of some heroic deed. No danger of a death of patriots as long as Memorial day is thus observed.—Ex.

Engine Off the Track.

This morning about 10:30 while switching in the C. H. & D. yards at this place, engine 385 which hauls the east-bound local freight on that road, slipped off the switch, near the Brann lot. The trouble was due to spreading rails which were placed on rotten ties. For a distance of thirty feet the track was torn up and the tie crumpled. The track bed was soft and made the lifting of the engine impossible with the limited tools at hand. Help was asked for from Indianapolis, and a wrecking crew was sent here to place the engine again on the track. Another engine pulled the delayed train out of this city.

THE STATE OF TRADE

Better Weather Has Brought About

More Encouraging Conditions.

New York, May 7.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says:

Long expected good weather has at last materialized and has helped farmers and retail trade in reasonable goods. Crop preparations and planting had made especially good progress.

The present outlook being that while the winter wheat crop will be short, the acreage in spring wheat, oats and corn will be heavily increased. Retail and wholesale trade, however, has not experienced the stimulation earlier looked for, there being a disposition as far as regard results as below expectations.

Re-order trade with jobbers is slow and fall orders are backward. Other conditions partake of irregularity.

The iron trade is quiet, with prices distinctly weaker. On the other hand rather less than the usual number of May day strikes have occurred, and this year so far makes a more favorable showing than did 1903. Railway earnings continue to show a falling off. Failures are little more than the normal in number, but swelled by suspensions of financial institutions and a few large manufacturers.

Liabilities are heavy for this season of the year.
